CCMA MCQs for Exam Preparation

This free collection contains 20 unique, exam-style Certified Clinical Medical Assistant (CCMA) multiple-choice questions covering high-yield clinical and administrative topics. Each question includes a detailed explanation to reinforce essential concepts for certification success.

Q1. While obtaining vital signs, an adult patient's blood pressure is 178/112 mmHg. What should the medical assistant do first?

A. Repeat the measurement after verifying technique and notify the provider

B. Tell the patient to go home

C. Document without reporting

D. Administer medication independently

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: A markedly elevated blood pressure should be confirmed using proper technique and promptly reported to the provider.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q2. Which PPE should always be worn when collecting blood from a patient?

A. Face shield only

B. Gloves

C. Shoe covers

D. Gown only

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Gloves are required whenever contact with blood or body fluids is anticipated.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q3. Which tube is typically drawn first during routine venipuncture using the order of draw?

A. Lavender

B. Light blue

C. Blood culture bottles

D. Gray

Correct Answer: C

Explanation: Blood cultures are collected first to reduce contamination risk.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q4. A patient becomes pale and dizzy during a blood draw. What is the priority action?

A. Continue collecting the specimen

B. Remove the needle and assist the patient safely

C. Ask the patient to stand

D. Leave the room

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Stop the procedure immediately and protect the patient from injury.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q5. Which lead placement is correct for the right arm during a 12-lead ECG?

A. Left shoulder

B. Right wrist/arm

C. Left ankle

D. Chest

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: The RA electrode is placed on the right arm or wrist.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q6. The primary purpose of HIPAA is to:

A. Increase insurance premiums

B. Protect patient health information

C. Regulate laboratory testing

D. Set medication prices

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: HIPAA establishes standards for safeguarding protected health information.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q7. What is the normal adult oral temperature range?

A. 95–96°F

B. 97–99°F

C. 100–102°F

D. 103–105°F

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Normal oral temperature is generally around 97°F to 99°F.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q8. Which medication route provides the fastest systemic effect?

A. Oral

B. Intravenous

C. Topical

D. Rectal

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Intravenous administration delivers medication directly into circulation.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q9. Before administering medication, which action is most important?

A. Verify the patient's identity

B. Check insurance

C. Measure height

D. Print a receipt

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: Patient identification is fundamental to medication safety.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q10. A sterile field becomes wet. What should the assistant do?

A. Continue using it

B. Consider it contaminated and replace it

C. Dry it with gauze

D. Ignore it

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Moisture can contaminate a sterile field through strike-through.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q11. Which agency develops standards for workplace safety?

A. CDC

B. OSHA

C. CMS

D. DEA

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: OSHA sets and enforces workplace safety standards.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q12. The best site for an intramuscular injection in a healthy adult is often the:

A. Deltoid

B. Forehead

C. Abdomen

D. Forearm

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: The deltoid is commonly used for appropriate IM vaccine volumes.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q13. A patient refuses treatment after receiving an explanation. The assistant should:

A. Force treatment

B. Respect the refusal and notify the provider

C. Ignore the patient

D. Call security immediately

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Competent patients have the right to refuse care.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q14. Which laboratory value is most important to monitor in a patient taking warfarin?

A. Hemoglobin A1C

B. INR

C. Sodium

D. Calcium

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: INR is used to monitor warfarin therapy.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q15. How long should alcohol dry before venipuncture?

A. Immediately puncture

B. Allow it to air dry completely

C. Wipe it off

D. Rinse with water

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Allowing antiseptic to dry improves effectiveness and reduces discomfort.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q16. The abbreviation PRN means:

A. Every morning

B. As needed

C. Before meals

D. At bedtime

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: PRN indicates medication is given as needed.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q17. Which position is commonly used for a pelvic examination?

A. Supine

B. Lithotomy

C. Prone

D. Fowler's

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Lithotomy provides appropriate access for pelvic exams.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q18. After removing gloves, the next infection-control step is:

A. Put on new gloves

B. Perform hand hygiene

C. Touch the face

D. Clean equipment first

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Hand hygiene is required after glove removal.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q19. A sharps container should be replaced when it is:

A. Half full

B. About three-quarters full

C. Completely full

D. Empty

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Overfilled sharps containers increase injury risk.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Q20. Which communication technique best improves patient understanding?

A. Use medical jargon

B. Use teach-back

C. Speak rapidly

D. Avoid questions

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Teach-back confirms the patient understands instructions.

Source: https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/

Prepare with Confidence Using PrepPool

PrepPool provides realistic CCMA practice questions designed around current certification objectives. Detailed explanations help reinforce clinical skills, administrative knowledge, and patient safety principles needed for exam success.

Unlock the complete Premium CCMA Practice Exam featuring 870 updated questions with detailed explanations.

BUY PREMIUM – 870 QUESTIONS

https://www.preppool.com/test-prep/ccma-practice-exam-questions-and-answers/